HISTORIC
GRAND LAKE
COLORADO USA

Get to Grand Lake, Colorado!

Visit this Historic Western Town only a short drive from Denver or the Front Range.
True American Treasures!

From Denver: Take I-70 west to exit 232, then US40 over Berthoud Pass to US34 just outside of Granby. Grand Lake is at the western entrance to Rocky Mountain National Park. 145 miles - 90 minutes

From Estes Park: In the summer months take US34 over Trail Ridge Road and through Rocky Mountain National Park. Visit www.grandlakechamber.com to check for road closures. 47 miles - 60 minutes

From Steamboat Springs: Take US40 east through Kremmling and Hot Sulphur Springs and turn left at the US34 turnoff just west of Granby. 150 miles - 90 minutes

Travel Tip - Enjoy the perfect road trip from Colorado's Front Range to Grand Lake and back. Drive from Denver or Boulder through Estes Park and over Trail Ridge Road, America's highest continuously paved road.

Take in breathtaking views from over two miles above sea-level and witness elk, moose and other wildlife and beautiful landscapes in Rocky Mountain National Park. When leaving the park, turn left into Grand Lake Village and experience the state's largest natural lake and the Colorado's original resort community. Return to the Front Range over Berthoud Pass through Arapaho National Forest and once again, cross the Continental Divide.

JUST ONE SEASON, YOURS.

Nestled on the shores of Colorado's largest natural lake, surrounded by the Arapahoe National Forest and at the western entrance to majestic Rocky Mountain National Park sits the Historic Village of Grand Lake. One of the last unspoiled resort communities in the state, Grand Lake offers both the charm and tranquility of bygone days while at the same time offering amenities that surprise first-time visitors to this mountain town.

Whether you plan to visit during one or all four of the Seasons, an abundance of activities, historic treasures and opportunities for downtime await you from the moment you arrive. From rustic home cooking to sophisticated eateries, snowshoeing to snowmobiling, quiet evenings overlooking the lake or a day of scaling a snow-capped peak, Grand Lake has something in every season for every visitor.

Come find your Season in Grand Lake.
There is Just One Season. Yours.

For thousands of years, Grand Lake, or Spirit Lake as it was called by the Native American Ute Tribes, has attracted millions of people to this magical place. Generations of Native Americans, followed by European settlers in the late 19th century, were drawn to Grand Lake by the unspeakable beauty of this land and almost unlimited natural resources that made a permanent settlement possible over 125 years ago. Today, much of what attracted Native Americans and early settlers to Grand Lake now holds true for thousands of visitors.

Located just two hours from Denver, Grand Lake offers every visitor an opportunity to find their Season. Whether you arrive in Grand Lake by driving over the highest continuously paved highway in the country, Trail Ridge Road, or journey over historic Berthoud Pass; soaring mountain peaks and crystal blue alpine lakes will amaze your senses as you embark on an adventure of a lifetime - to find your Season.

Spring erupts in Grand Lake with a fury of wildflowers, warm sunshine and awakening wildlife.

Contrasted against the still snow-capped mountains, the colors of reborn nature startle the senses and offer the photographer, both novice and professional alike the opportunity to capture nature at its most colorful.

As in most nights, no matter what the Season, nightlife in Grand Lake flourishes. Catch a Concert in the Pines at the Community House; part of the year-round palate of music and theatre offered by the Grand Arts Council.

Wine tastings, cultural events and nightlife extend your Season from day to night. Catch a local band at one of the many taverns and saloons, while sipping a locally brewed beer. Let go while dancing a jig to Nine Toed Bob and the Stragglers as they pack the dance floor or enjoy a cocktail, relax and catch the game at a local sports bar.

Tired from a day of exploring? Cozy bed & breakfasts' as well as comfortable inns and hotels offer the luxurious option of relaxation and undisturbed downtime that is rarely discovered in other resort communities. As spring renews this magical mountain village, renew yourself and discover one of your Seasons', in Grand Lake.

Rivers and creeks swell with the runoff of winter snow. Witness the roar of cascading waters from a cozy table at a riverside restaurant, or take a short hike to the edge of the village to experience the raging Adams Falls, a must see for every visitor to Grand Lake. As dusk approaches, a horse-back ride into tranquil Rocky Mountain National Park affords breathtaking sunsets and tranquility known only to a very few.

Fireworks over the lake. Hearty pancake breakfasts. Parades dotted with colorful locals dressed in hoop skirts and cowboy hats. Summer is a great time to bring the family to Grand Lake to experience a western town at its finest.

Desire a thrill? ATV and boat rentals will offer not only an experience but will create memories that last a lifetime. Looking to get in touch with nature? Surrounded by some of the most untouched tracts of wilderness in the United States, Grand Lake is the ultimate launching point for your day hike or back country adventure.

No matter what the Season in Grand Lake, every day must eventually come to an end, some with more brilliance than others. Grand Lake is home to the largest Independence Day fireworks show in Colorado; attracting tens of thousands who have made the village and a day on the lake a Fourth of July tradition for decades.

After a day of adventure on the boardwalk, sailing on the lake or exploring nature on one or more of the hundreds of miles of hiking and ATV trails, rest assured that Grand Lake is ready to round off your day with a comfortable place to stay and an unforgettable dinner.

Grand Lake, situated on the deepest and largest natural lake in Colorado, and adjacent to the largest bodies of water in the state, Shadow Mountain Lake and Lake Granby afford unlimited water sports options.

Over a million acres of protected land offer the ultimate adventure for everyone from the most novice recreational hiker to the die-hard survivalist.

Waterskiing, tubing, jet-skiing or pontooning, the alpine lakes of the Grand Lake area offer unlimited opportunities to the water with a backdrop of the Rockies that cannot be found anywhere in the county. For the fisherman, The Lake Granby Fisherman's Classic attracts anglers from all corners of North America as does the fertile waters of the mighty Colorado River whose headwaters can be found in Grand Lake.

The arts flourish in Grand Lake during the summer months. After a day of outdoor exploration, relax and enjoy a Broadway musical at the Rocky Mountain Repertory Theatre. Family friendly musicals and a children's theatre program make this theatre one of the hottest tickets in Colorado.

Grand Lake's many art galleries are open well into the evening offering temptations that few can resist. The galleries will soon have you envisioning your home dressed in the works of both local and nationally renowned artists or at the very least, offer you a unique keepsake of your visit to Grand Lake.

While passing from gallery to gallery, it would be impossible to pass up the other treasures that abound on Grand Lake's historic boardwalk. Over 60 retailers offer wares ranging from outdoor survival gear to high end clothing, from handcrafted furniture to locally designed jewelry.

An active or relaxing day in Grand Lake is guaranteed to whet your appetite and Grand Lake's eateries are ready to satisfy any craving. There's a restaurant for every taste. Elk, buffalo, rainbow trout, salmon, steaks and other entrees are prepared by outstanding mountain culinary staff and served in a real mountain setting.

Mountain, river or lake views are the norm. Perhaps a fox, elk or moose will wander by. Don't have time to linger? Grab a sandwich and coffee from one of Grand Lake's casual restaurants or coffee shops.

The long warm days of a Grand Lake summer give way to cool mornings and earlier evenings, and nature dresses in its finest color. This Season is the favorite of many who arrive from all over the globe to witness brilliant oranges, yellows and reds of aspen, and to listen to the bugling of the elk in the meadows of Rocky Mountain National Park and in the forests and meadows surrounding Grand Lake.

Summer crowds depart, and exploring Grand Lake becomes a more private affair. A horseback ride into Rocky Mountain National Park affords breathtaking views of the changing foliage. Moose, elk and other wildlife begin to descend from higher elevations before winter arrives.

Sportsman find fertile hunting grounds and lakes which, more often than not, they will have to themselves. Golfers will enjoy the solitude and appreciate the ease at which a tee time is secured at any one of the area's championship courses.

Enjoy Grand Lake's Fall Folk Festival and the sounds of Grand Lake's most beloved musicians. Browse through the wares of artisans and get a jump start on your Christmas and holiday shopping.

When it's time to bed down, breathtaking lake views from your room or the historic charm of a real inn are guaranteed to bring the sand man. Grand Lake offers lodging options to suit every budget and desire, including private mountain retreats lovingly cared for by the families that also call them home. As you fall asleep you may hear a coyote howl in the distance, or see an eagle fly over in the morning. Grand Lake's cottages, bed & breakfasts, hotels, private residences or motels are all within steps of your next day's adventure and are all ready to ensure a comfortable night's sleep to prepare you for your Season.

Compared to the hustle and bustle of many winter vacation destinations, the village of Grand Lake is a quiet, peaceful winter wonderland where a thick blanket of snow helps transform the town into a pastoral scene. It is this Season that is most often associated with Grand Lake as it combines the tranquility of winter with the opportunity to indulge in every imaginable winter sport and activity.

With one the largest snowmobile trail systems in Colorado, Grand Lake is consistently ranked in the top ten snowmobiling destinations in the United States, and is known as the Snowmobile Capital of Colorado.

Similar to horse-riding cowboys who could be found sharing roads with the automobile, the snow packed streets are now shared with snowmobilers who are able to access miles of trails directly from their hotel or inn, a number of which rent snowmobiles on-site.

Weaving throughout Rocky Mountain National Park and the Arapaho National Forest a well-maintained series of cross country and snowshoeing trails offer the opportunity to explore nature in its frozen state. It is not uncommon to spot a moose lumbering through the woods as you quietly glide through along the trails, miles from the nearest person or out of earshot of any man made sound.

For the thrill seeker, three major alpine ski resorts are all within a forty-five minute drive of Grand Lake. Spend the day snowboarding or skiing at some of Colorado's most popular resorts knowing that a quiet evening in the uncrowded village of Grand Lake awaits you.
